

BOOK OF VIVES OF $8 PER WEEK

Matrimonial Career of Chapman.

Wife No. 1 Says Boy Hus- band Was Cruel and Abusive.

Alleged Polygamist Claims That His Wife Consented to His Second Matrimonial Venture.

According to Mrs. Chapman No. 1, James A. Chapman deserted her after failure to support and cruelty.

James A. Chapman, in the county jail yesterday morning, said that his first wife knew that he was going to marry a second time. He pleads ignorance of the law as his excuse.

Mrs. Chapman No. 2, whose name is Luella Jensen, left her late home on Grape street for the residence of her son on the east side. It is claimed that she was entirely ignorant of the presence or existence of wife No. 1.

Were Seen Together.

Perhaps the strangest part of the young bigamist's story is the fact that he and the girl whom he made his plural wife were more than once seen together by the young woman whom he had deserted. They were married by the bishop of the ecclesiastical ward where the first wife and her mother were living at the time. Bishop of the ward, in answer to a question, stated yesterday that the young people came to him with proper witnesses and a marriage license.

Made $8 a Week.

"I had told Chapman to go his way and I would go mine," said Mrs. Chapman, the first, yesterday afternoon. The young woman was sewing in her home near the corner of Third and Main streets. "Since we were married he failed to support me. He turned over his money to his mother and his wages were only $8 a week."

We were married in September and before Christmas we began to quarrel. East. He came back and tried to renew relations, but my mother and I both refused to have anything to do with him. My own living since I was married. He has been in trouble in Salt Lake City. I do not believe he was exactly mentally strong. He abused me and he struck my mother on one occasion.

Heard of the Marriage.

"We knew he was keeping company with another girl. We saw them together more than once. Then it came to my ears that he was married. He had told my mother that if he separated from me he would not live alone. We had paid no attention to the remark. Well, when the news came that he was married and was afterward with another girl, I knew it. Then my brother came in one night and said he had seen Jim walking up Grape street, a block away from this house, carrying up an armful of wood. Finally the news came to me in a way that made me sure that Chapman was married again. I went to his home and county building and saw the license stub."

Now he has run his row out. He must take the consequences. I am sorry for the girl he married. I do not think the law should be made to make a marriage. It was me, I am sure, who was to blame."

Chapman Says Wife Knew It.

In the county jail yesterday Chapman said that he knew his first wife of his intention to marry a second time. "She knew it all right," said he. "I did not realize anything was necessary for anything further, at least I did not think so. My second wife did not know of my first marriage. When I got into court and told the facts I was married to my first wife, my mother-in-law did not like me and wanted my wife to marry another fellow. That started me on my way. Chapman was arraigned before Judge Diehl yesterday morning and his preliminary hearing was set for October 29."

Mayor Vetoes Sidewalk Assessment.

Mayor Morris has vetoed the proposition to make the city pay eight cents per linear foot more for gravel sidewalks over and above the assessment of eighteen cents per linear foot which was made some time ago.

The Mayor takes the ground that no supplemental assessment can legally be made without the consent of all interested. The veto reads as follows:

To the Honorable President and Members of the City Council: Gentlemen—I herewith return to you the ordinance recommending that certain contracts with Mr. P. G. Palmer for construction of all gravel or broken stone sidewalks that have or may be ordered from March 1 to October 31, 1904, be approved, the cost of the gravel sidewalks to be twenty-six cents per linear foot, for the following reasons:

You honorable body has passed an ordinance levying an assessment for all gravel sidewalks at a cost of eighteen cents per linear foot, and as no supplemental assessment can legally be made without the unanimous consent of all interested, I am not in favor of the city being called upon to pay the extra eight cents per linear foot.

Very respectfully,
RICHARD P. MORRIS, Mayor.

Connell Gave Short Measure.

William Connell, found guilty of giving short measure, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Diehl to serve a fine of $15 or serve seventy-five days in jail. Connell, who is employed by J. C. Redman selling produce, refused to deliver to a customer twenty bushels of potatoes, but delivered only twelve bushels. He attempted to place the blame on the man who was assisting him on the wagon, alleging that his assistant was keeping a balance of the number of bushels taken into the house, but there were circumstances which indicated that the man was intent upon defrauding the customer, and the court considered the time ripe for making an example of some one guilty of this sort of work.

Fined for Seining in Jordan.

Three Greeks, whose names contain many letters of the alphabet to permit their being printed, were fined at Murray yesterday for seining fish in the Jordan. The foreigners were caught during the morning. They pleaded guilty and were fined during the day, two of them $10 and costs each and the third $15 and costs, making a total of $45.00.

Does Lunatic Hate Factories

Series of Mysterious Fires in North Salt Lake Suggests a De- mented Firebug.

"It is a fact that nearly every enterprise that was ever started in North Salt Lake has been destroyed by fire," said an old member of the fire department yesterday afternoon, and a glimpse at the records of the department show that the statement is about correct. During the past six years there have been nine disastrous conflagrations in the northern section of the city, besides numerous residential fires.

In 1895 Beck's paint factory near Ninth North and Fifth West streets was visited by fire and the property almost completely destroyed. The following year the copper plant near the Jordan river was the scene of an expensive blaze. About the same time the Enco's smelter at North Salt Lake was destroyed by fire.

In 1901 the crematory just north of the Warm Springs was heavily damaged by fire and the following year the Langton Lime and Cement company's plant met a similar fate.

Three times during the past twelve years Beck's Hot Springs resort was destroyed by fire. The last blaze occurred in 1902. A tannery located just south of the Hot Springs was also destroyed by fire in a mysterious manner.

It is a peculiar fact that nearly all of the fires mentioned above have started in the northern section of the city and occurred at night and in very few instances has the fire department been able to do much toward checking the flames, account of the scarcity of water. The nearest hydrant is a short distance north of the Warm Springs, leaving a greater part of North Salt Lake without protection.

It has been suggested that there is a lunatic of a semi-demented person with a mania for incendiarism who has caused many of the fires in this section of the city. Since many have occurred in such a mysterious manner, with strong evidences of incendiarism, the suggestion has been made that there is a mad fanatic who does not want to see the northern section of Salt Lake turned into a factory district.

SMOKE ISN'T CONSUMED.

Inside Information as to Why City Jail Is Without a Stoker.

For a long time the absence of a smoke consumer at the city jail has been a matter of considerable comment, in that the city had passed an ordinance ordering everybody else to have a smoke consumer on his furnace and had none on its own furnace. The reason for this is apparent after reading the following correspondence between the Mayor and P. J. Moran, who contracted to put in a smoke consumer at the city jail some time ago. The first letter is from the Mayor to Mr. Moran:

"Dear Sir—I would like to know if you intend to place, according to contract, the American Stoker in the new city jail, if so, when? If not, please advise me as to your intentions."

An early reply is respectfully requested. Very respectfully,
(Signed) "R. P. MORRIS, Mayor."

Mr. Moran answered as follows:

"Hon. Richard P. Morris, Mayor, Salt Lake City—Dear Sir—In reply to your letter of the 24th inst. regarding the installation of the American Stoker in the new city jail building, I beg leave to state that it is not my intention to install said stoker unless the company will furnish and install same at the price which they gave to the city, which is $785, as this was the price that I used in making my estimate at the time I bid on this work, and it was also the price used by the other bidders at the time."

I enclose the original proposal and other correspondence in connection with this matter. Very respectfully,
(Signed) "P. J. MORAN"

Mayor Morris then addressed the following communication to Mr. Moran:

"Dear Sir—I have your favor of the 26th inst., in which you state it is not your intention to install the American Stoker in the new city jail building unless the American Stoker company will furnish and install same at a certain price, as agreed upon between you and the said Stoker company. You enclose, as you claim, the original proposal and other correspondence in connection with this matter, for as I take it, my information."

Your letter I will submit to the Council for its action, and the original proposal and other correspondence in connection with the matter I herewith return to you, as the same has absolutely no connection with your contract with this city. Very respectfully,
(Signed) "R. P. MORRIS, Mayor."

THROWN BEFORE A CAR.

Spirited Horse Causes an Exciting Scene on North Temple Street.

Mrs. Bettie P. Blake, wife of Thomas Blake of South Jordan, met with a painful, though not serious accident on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Blake were driving east on North Temple street in this city, when the young and spirited horse they were driving became frightened and reared up on the approach of a car. The animal lunged forward. When Mr. Blake handed the reins to his wife and she stepped out of the car, she fell head first into the path of the car. Instead of the animal whirling around, throwing the buggy in which Mr. Blake was seated directly in front of the motor car. The motorist had time to put on the brakes and slow up, but it was not sufficient time to stop it before it struck the buggy, throwing the occupant very between the shoulders and quite severely injured. Mr. Blake was returned to his home and was taken to the hospital. He is now recovering from his injuries. The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock last evening. The car was driven by a man who was not injured. The horse was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from its fright.

Col. Clay a Visitor in Zion.

In Col. Cecil Clay, who was a guest at the Knutsford yesterday, with his wife, Salt Lake City had an interesting visit. Col. Clay is general agent of the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C. and is now on his way back to Washington from a trip to the coast and through the states of California, Washington and Oregon, where they have been spending the greater part of the late summer and early fall. They called at the office of the United States Marshal yesterday and were shown the bones of Zion by Marshal Heywood.

REPORTED ON MISSION WORK

Convention Is Well Attended.

Rev. Wake Tells What Has Been Done by Informa- tion Bureau.

Summary of Year's Work Shows Real Progress—New Officers Are Elected.

One of the best attended and most interesting conventions in the history of the Missionary union was that held yesterday at the First Methodist church. All reports received were of a most encouraging nature, showing that greater interest is being yearly taken in both home and foreign missions.

Information Bureau.

Rev. Richard Wake, secretary of the information bureau, gave the first report of the day. It covered the work accomplished by the information bureau during the year past. In addition to sending out 1100 packages of literature and replying to 400 personal letters concerning the condition of affairs in Utah, the bureau has been instrumental in securing the services of an Eastern minister, who spends his time traveling from place to place and lecturing upon the Mormon question. The expenses of this speaker are borne in part by the information bureau, which in turn is supported by the orthodox churches of the city and the Missionary union. Mrs. William H. Tibbels of the Central church, Mrs. J. R. Bowditch of the Methodist, Mrs. Harrison of the Congregational, Mrs. Wright of the Baptist are members of the committee from the Missionary union, which works jointly with the committee from the Ministerial association in carrying out the purposes for which the information bureau was started.

Young People and Missions.

"How we are interesting our young people in missions" was the subject of a number of informal talks by representatives of the various churches, showing the ways in which they are interested in people in home and foreign missions. It was a most interesting and profitable session. The speakers were: Mrs. M. E. Baxter, Mrs. George Paul, Mrs. Jennie Pierce, Mrs. Fannie Thorne and Mrs. A. C. Honnell.

Women in Foreign Missions.

Following the discussion which these reports elicited, luncheon was served in the hall of the church. The long tables were prettily decorated with autumn flowers and leaves and the ladies were in a lively mood during the luncheon hour.

Two Murders—No Inquest.

Reports of Lawless Times Come From Railroad Camp at Los Vegas.

Two probable murders and no inquest nor any attempt to apprehend the murderers is the record which comes from the railroad camp at Los Vegas, on the San Pedro line. In its issue of last Saturday the California Progress has this item:

"These are lawless times in Los Vegas, as reported by Mr. W. H. Galt, manager of the C. & P. Co. Two weeks ago a man was found lying beside a fence in Los Vegas with marks of a blow on his head and body, and in spite of the fact that a woman there says she saw three men carry the body and throw it where it was found, no inquest was held and the man was buried without the formality of such inquest. Another man was found dead a few nights ago at Los Vegas, with head crushed, and although the authorities were notified, no inquest was held to inquire into the cause of death."

Murray Workman Falls to His Death

Smelter Employee Fatally Hurt by Plunge From Thirty-Foot Staging.

Charles Hume, a carpenter, slipped and fell to his death at Murray yesterday afternoon. Hume was working with six other men, tearing down the old white lead works of the American Smelting and Refining company, when the accident occurred.

The unfortunate man missed his footing. His horrified fellow workmen saw him plunge past them through the air. He struck the ground thirty feet below the staging on which he had been at work. When picked up he was unconscious. Hume was carried to the Murray hospital. There death overtook him an hour and a half later. Dr. Jones of Murray attended him and did everything in his power to resuscitate him. The man's skull was fractured and his hip bone broken.

Hume had been working for the company three years. He was a married man. His home is in Boston. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

TWO CHARGES OF BURGLARY.

Alleged Safe-Cracker to Be Arraigned Before Municipal Judge Diehl.

James Riley, the joggerman arrested Wednesday by Sergeant Hemple and Patrolman Johnson on suspicion of having burglarized the safe of the Continental Oil company in its office at Second South and Sixth West streets, will be arraigned before Judge Diehl on two complaints of burglary.

Both complaints were sworn to yesterday by Sergeant Hemple and were filed by the county attorney. One charged Riley with breaking into the blacksmith shop of Pepper & Son, 166 West Second south street, where it is alleged the tools were obtained with which entrance was gained to the oil company's office.

The police believe that the indication of Riley by the Italian merchant who sold him the soap, a portion of which was found at the scene of the safe burglary, the fitting of the man's shoes into the tracks found in the railroad yards and the fact that the man's cloth picked up near the wrecked safe was torn from the prisoner's trousers, they have an opinion of circumstantial evidence which must surely connect him with the crime. No progress has been made as yet in the hunt for Riley's accomplice, is he had one.

INJURED IN SCRIMMAGE.

Willie Rowe's Arm Broken While He Battled for His Father's Trophy.

With a broken arm and a dislocated shoulder, Willie C. Rowe, the fourteen-year-old son of W. T. Rowe, president of the clothing firm of Rowe & Kelly, lies at home getting over the effects of a football game with the Weathers school team against the school of the Wasatch school. The two teams were competing in the Rowe & Kelly school game. The game was a hard one, the public schools of Salt Lake City to play for a trophy that has been offered by that firm.

This is the second time this young man has broken his right arm. His first accident was caused by a fall from a tree. It is evident that he is a very active and energetic boy.

He was playing with the representatives of the Wasatch school. The two teams were competing in the Rowe & Kelly school game. The game was a hard one, the public schools of Salt Lake City to play for a trophy that has been offered by that firm.

SOD PINS TO KEEP FAMILY

Little Girl Forced to Peddle.

Missionary Union Takes Up the Case of Ella Pe- tersen.

Her Father Found to Be in Good Health—Truant Officer Will Be Asked to Interfere.

Another case for the truant officer or some other officer anxious to protect the rights of children was reported at the meeting of the Missionary union yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist church. A committee was named, some months ago to look into the case, and after reporting yesterday was continued and instructed as to its future actions in the matter.

Early last spring, or about the time of the semi-annual meeting of the Missionary union, a little girl of 8 years, who gave her name as Ella Petersen, called at the home of a member of the Missionary union, selling needles, pins, thread and other notions. When asked why she was not in school the little girl gave a pitiful tale about a sick mother, a father suffering from typhoid fever, and several small children to support.

The matter was reported to the Missionary union and a committee was named to investigate.

Father Refuses Help.

In due time the committee called at the address given by the little girl on Second street, between Tenth and Eleventh South. In addition to the girl of 8 years there was a girl of 10 and three boys under 10. The mother was not well, but the father was apparently in good health and the committee learned that he had recovered from the typhoid fever more than a year before. In answer to their offers to send the County Physician to examine into the case, Peterson stoutly refused, saying he was being treated by a doctor in Ogden. The parents also refused to allow the children of school age to be taken from home where they would be cared for and sent to school.

Child Gives Another Name.

On August 1st, a member of the committee appointed by the Missionary union, and who, by the way, had visited the Petersen home, met one of the little girls peddling notions. In answer to questions the child gave the name address, the same story about a father ill at home with typhoid fever, but said her name was Erickson. Yesterday the Missionary union decided to report the case to the truant officer, and if they cannot succeed in making the parents send the children to school in this way, will take the matter up with the city on the ground that the child was peddling.

The committee includes Mrs. Stuckey, Mrs. J. R. Bowditch and Mrs. Sarah Reed.

IS LEAD CONTRABAND?

United States Supreme Court Has Been Asked to Decide.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The United States Supreme court has been asked to decide whether pig lead is contraband of war, and the question was argued before that tribunal today. The controversy arose in 1894 during the war between Japan and China, and the parties to it are the Northern Pacific Railway company and the American Trading company. The case grows out of a delay of about six weeks in the shipment of a consignment of pig lead, a connecting link in the trading company's business, to the Japanese Government, subject to the conditions that the lead should be no longer in its delivery. It was carried from New York to Tacoma, Wash., by the railroad company's "country" car, but after it had been loaded onto a connecting steamer a United States revenue collector seized the lead, claiming it was contraband of war.

BLAZE ON A PIER.

Half-Million-Dollar Blaze in New York This Morning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Fire which began shortly after midnight has destroyed the pier at the foot of Forty-second street, Brooklyn, and the steamer City of Palermo, of the Prince line, which was lying at the pier, is burning and it is believed cannot be saved. The pier, which is a huge structure, is owned by the Bush Terminal and Warehouse company and is stored with cotton and other goods. A new pier is now being built on the site of the old one. The blaze is being fought by a large force of firemen. The steamer City of Palermo is a large vessel, and its destruction would be a great loss to the shipping line.
